

Signals

A signal “is a function that conveys information about the behavior or attributes of some phenomenon” (Priemer, 1991). signal

We will primarily be considering electrical signals (e.g. voltage or current varying in time) and mechanical signals (e.g. velocity or force varying in time). electrical signal mechanical signal